Jill Gordon's Countryside Views in Cross StitchBy Mary RossThis book is wonderful, with beautiful, easy to follow charts that can be converted to needlepoint. It's a beautiful book!!

Internationally-renowned textile artist Jill Gordon presents a stunning collection of twelve beautifully scenic landscapes from around the world. As a painter and textile artist, Jill Gordon is best known for her vivid portrayals of nature. In this wonderful new collection of her work, she has broadened her inspiration to capture the unique beauty of twelve landscape views. Whether she is depicting a simple woodcutter's cottage or a dramatic castle, Jill captures the unique atmosphere of the original scene, bringing it to life in stitches. While many of the designs are finished as simple framed pictures, Jill shows how easily the stitching can be transformed into eye-catching items such as a wall hanging, firescreen, footstool, cushion and tray inlay.

About the Author Jill Gordon started painting and stitching in 1971 when she first met Kaffe Fassett, soon to become both her teacher and an enduring influence on her work. Jill has designed a number of needlecraft projects and has created a selection of kits for the John Lewis Partnership. Her work has featured in magazines such as Cross Stitch, Cross Stitch Collection and Needlecraft. The author of two books on needlepoint designs, this is Jill's second collection of designs for cross stitch. Jill lives in Leek, Staffordshire.
