She opened it on Christmas day and made 3 bracelets right away. The directions for each bracelet are clear and concise with simple, colored patterns to follow, and easy for her without adult assistance.Making these bracelets are a good change from all those colored rubber bracelets the kids are making today.Highly recommend!16 of 16 people found the following review helpful. Great Projects that a 12 year old can do herselfBy Becky BuckeyeMy 12 year old niece spent the weekend with us and this was one of her favorite projects. She made several bracelets for herself and was anxious to try more with her friends. The only thing she wanted help with was to tie the knots. It was a fun project for us to do together and allowed us to talk while doing it. I'm getting another to have on hand when other pre-teens come to visit. Would also be a good thing to take on a vacation or to give as a get well gift. She also really liked the Kumihimo braiding disk(which I also purchased on) to make friendship bracelets. 4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Had fun for awhile

My 9 year old daughter saw this at Barnes and Noble. I found it on cheaper (of course!). She loved it for the first day or two but has not played with it since. I think it is a nice craft project and kept her busy for a few hours. I am sure she will get it out again at some point. She needed a little help tying the knots but really liked the bracelets and made a few of her own designs as well.

Includes 12 dazzling bracelet designs made from actual safety pins. Whichever design you choose, you pick the colors and patterns so each bracelet is uniquely you. Super-simple, step-by-step directions are fully illustrated for Klutz-quality clarity.
