Happiness and Joy of the color of PinkBy Marilyn HemingwayThis book give one hope if they have cancer, IM making my sister who just got over her 10 year good health stretch in not having any more cancer. I feel she deserves all the Gratitude and Love from us all in trying to put the smile on and to look her best. Just looking and trying to decide what to make for her has turned out a couple of things she will always have.The detail to the patterns and how to knit them was so educational it was a learning tool for me. I now make all kinds of knitting hats for people whom loose their hair and just give them to charity.Thank you Loma Miser for putting this wonderful book together,Marilyn Hemingway0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Nice book - and you don't have to use pink!By SuzyQVery nice! I make things for cancer patients (I am a survivor) and this is a lovely book. I do wish people realized that everything did not have to be pink though. There are many cancers out there that people struggle with - including breast cancer - and even breast cancer patients can appreciate something other than pink. I found the following review helpful. Patterns are easy to follow but the results are beautiful. By Debra Martinez: Having lymphoma myself, I am currently going through chemotherapy. I find the patterns easy to follow yet are beautiful knits. I don't want to struggle with complicated patterns while in recovery. Knitting is very therapeutic.

So many of us have been impacted by breast cancer, whether we've dealt with it personally or know someone who has. A special knitted gift is a tangible way to show our support to loved ones--or our appreciation to our caregivers. These beautiful knitting patterns are ideal. Choose from 25 quick-to-knit accessories, including super soft hats, pretty shawls, cozy socks, slippers, blankets, pillows, and more. Incorporate affordable amounts of luscious yarns such as alpaca, cashmere, and silk that are soothing against the skin and easy to wear comfortably. Use those waiting-room hours to knit something from the heart that will be welcomed and treasured.

One in eight women, 12 % of women in the U.S. will develop invasive breast cancer over the course of their lifetime. In 2010 there were more than 25 million breast cancer survivors in the U.S. About 70-80% of breast cancers occur in women who have no family history of breast cancer. It is time to knit pink. Knit Pink is a book of 25 patterns to knit for comfort, gratitude and charity, thanks to Lorna Miser. You are sure to find a color pink that suits your taste. Or change the color and see how it can make a difference. The skill levels include beginner, easy and intermediate. Large, clear photographs are included from several angles. The "Helpful Information" section at the back of the book includes knitting techniques, sewing zippers into knitting, using fused lining, abbreviations and more. There are patterns for scarves, hats, pillows, a tote, socks, slippers and a zippered purse. An easy "Wrapped in Warmth Blanket" is knit from a center panel and then using mitered corners, fans out from there. Who wouldn't want to cozy up in this throw? "Big Carry-all Tote" has a fused lining (no sewing) with suede handles and bottoms. This beginner 80/20 cotton/wool project will keep its shape no matter what you are carrying. On the cover is "Soft Embrace Shawlette" an intermediate project worked in 100% bamboo yarn. The yarn has sheen, drape and knit with lace edges and shaping. Knitting this using any color is sure to be a hit. --Paula Moliver, Hartford Knitting Examiner, March 2014

About the Author: Lorna Miser was inspired to become a knitter by both a mother and grandmother who knit beautiful things. By the late 1980s, Lorna was raising sheep, llamas, and rabbits and making yarn from their fiber. Next she created a popular yarn company, Lorna's Laces, which she sold in 2003. Since then she's spent her time designing, teaching, and writing. Lorna's designs can be found in many magazines, on websites, and through dozens of yarn companies.
